

Initially, the following activities are being considered:

1. ICEVI-Europe and EBU agree to maintain regular high-level contact, involving the presidents, directors, and/or Board Members appointed to monitor developments and follow up cooperation activities. Ideally, the Board members selected should hold positions or be active in both organisations. Contact may be by email, Skype and other teleconferencing facilities, and by attending meetings when deemed appropriate.

The following topics may be discussed from time to time at the respective Board Meetings of each organization:

a. specific cooperation activities or issues

b. the development of a strategy for closer cooperation

2. Interrelated references between the websites of both organisations will be realized and information on each organisation will be posted on the other's website.

3. ICEVI-Europe and EBU agree to circulate each other's newsletter to their respective membership and encourage the contribution of articles to the other's Newsletter.

4. Exchange of information and expertise between the two organizations has commenced and will continue. This should include any important developments regarding announcements, information, results of European projects, etc.

5. ICEVI-Europe and EBU will identify areas for joint work to be carried out in the form of projects, each to be entrusted to small expert working groups with membership from both organizations.
